NAME TOWN CENTRE AND WIN £25

Give a name to Slough's new town centre – and its leisure theatre complex – and you could win a prize of £25. That's the offer announced by Slough Council and its property developers.

Leaflets going out from the Town Hall have the slogan "Wanted: A name" and underneath is the legend "£100 reward" a reference to the total prize monies involved.

Prizes are set as follows: £25 for choosing the best name for the new shopping centre: £10 for the second best, and ten £1 prizes for runners-up. Junior runners-up (under 12) will share a further £5 worth of £1 prizes.

The same scale of prizes is offered by the council for naming the Leisure Centre.

Panel:

The panel for choosing the names will meet after the closing date for entries has closed on February 19 at noon.

They are: Mr. J.G. Martin, development manager, St. Martins Property Corporation; Alderman Godfrey Odds, chairman of Slough Planning Committee; the Editors of the Slough Express, the Slough Observer and the Evening Mail; one Slough student from Slough College nominated by the Students Union; and one Slough boy or girl from a senior school.

The competition is limited to people resident or employed in Slough. The chairman of the panel will be the Mayor (Alderman John Goodman).

Entries must be addressed to the Town Clerk, Town Centre Competition, Town Hall, Slough.
