

Warehouse to close

THE Owen Owen warehouse in Slough is to close in January 1984, but the management is confident no redundancies among the 35 staff, will have to take place.

The warehouse, in Stoke Gardens, which serves as a distribution centre for the 21 Owen Owen shops throughout the country, is closing because larger premises are required.

The Owen Owen store has been in existence in Slough since June 1979, when it replaced "Suters", which had been operating in the town since 1918.